Sparkling Too Long.

A young man was telling some of his acquaintances how he had gone back on his girl because she was sarcastic, and they asked him to explain what he meant. He said that he was spending the evening with her and he noticed that she seemed to be absent minded or tired, or something. About 2 o'clock in the morning he said she started up suddenly in alarm and exclaimed: "My, what is that!" He said he didn't hear anything, and she said she thought maybe it was a milkman coming with the milk. He said that was too sarcastic, and he would never go to see her again. Well, probably he couldn't suit her any better. Some fellows over the habit of wearing out a girl like some sarcastic remark like that. Sometimes the father of the girl will come to the head of the stairs and ask the girl if the morning paper has come, or if she will tell her visitor to tell the hired girl when he gets ready to go. These things may look to a young man to be sarcastic, but his conduct warrants it. There is no girl who is well, and wants to keep so, that wants to sit up all night with an ordinary young man. She has got to have some sleep or she is not worth the powder to blow her up. She can get all the information that she has to impart in six or seven hours, and every hour he stays after that is a dead loss. Some young fellows never know enough to go. They speak of it being time to go at 10 o'clock, and the girl, to be polite says: "Oh, don't hurry away. It is early yet," and the galoot thinks she means it, and he goes into camp for a few hours more, and all the time the girl is on needles. She wishes the house would take fire, or that he would be seized with a cramp, so she would get out. She knows that she will be the laughing stock of the whole family, and wishes he was in Goshen, but he stays as though he was sitting up with a corpse. No girl wants to seem impolite, and no one will yawn behind a handkerchief, or hitch nervously in her chair, and pray for relief, and when the stayer does finally go, she will skip up stairs three at a time and give a sigh of relief. We understand that a petition has been sent to the police, signed by about a hundred girls, asking them to arrest any young man found on the way home after 12 o'clock at night, unless he can give an account of himself. A girl ought to have cheek enough to tell a young man, when he has remained long enough, that it is time to retire, and if he does not go, call a servant and have a mattress spread on the parlor floor, and go off and leave the delicate young man to stay all night if he wants to. This is written at the request of a number of young girls who have become pale and hollow-eyed from being kept up until early hours of the morning by smart Alecks who will know enough to go home after this. —[Milwaukee Sun.]

Some little time ago Miss Frances Power Cobbe, who has so identified herself with the cause of anti vivisection, called on a distinguished man of science in London the other day to endeavor by persuasive speech and viva voce argument to gain him over to her cause. Three points were observable in Miss Cobbe's outward presentation, namely, she had an ostrich feather in her bonnet, a bird of paradise on or near her outfit, and she carried an ivory handled umbrella. Consequently the distinguished man of science replied as follows: "Madam, charity begins at home. When you have given up wearing ostrich feathers, which are picked from the living bird, causing the most exquisite pain; and birds of paradise, which, in order to enhance their beauty and luster, are skinned alive; when you have abandoned the ivory, because you know that the tusks are cut out of the dying elephant's jaw—then, and then only, come and uphold me with the cruelty of my operations. The difference between us, madam, that I inflict pain in the pursuit of knowledge and for the ultimate benefit of my fellow creatures; you cause cruelty to be inflicted merely for your personal adornment."

A story is told of Gen. Jubal Early that he had attended church once where the theme of the preacher was the Judgment Day, when the earth and sea should give up their dead. "What would you do General, if all these people the preacher spoke of should pop up around you?" asked his companion. It was during the closing days of the Confederacy, and after a moment's silence, Gen. Early, with characteristic profanity, responded: "I would conscript every—mother's son of them."

Mr. F. H. Delaney, of Norfolk, Va., writes: "It gives me great pleasure to experience once more that glorious and feeling of perfect health. I was buried in despair, my back constantly pained me, and from head to foot I felt thoroughly ill. I could not walk across the yard without fatigue. Nothing I ate agreed with me. Doctors could do me no good. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters. They have given me perfect health and strength."

The "Overflow Bug" of California.

The following extract from a note from one of Prof. C. V. Riley's correspondents, communicated by him to Nature, is interesting as showing how ground beetles, which are usually beneficial to man, may at times become a great nuisance. The insect properly called an "overflow bug" in California, is, scientifically, the Platynus mucrocollis. We lived, says the correspondent, in Fresno county two years. It is hot and dry there, thermometer ranging from 96° to 108° for about three months. In June and July, when hottest and driest, the "overflow bug" filled the air between sunset and dark. One could not with safety open his mouth. They filled the house; they swarmed on the table; in the milk, sugar, flour, bread, and everywhere where there was a crevice to get through. They were flying for about two weeks, and then they disappeared mostly or did not fly much, but were hidden under papers, clothing, and in every available place. They were all through the foot hills the same, and much the same in Los Angeles, about Norfolk, but they did not fly much in the latter place. In Los Angeles they seemed to be worse before the "Santa Annas," a hot wind from the desert filling the air with sand. Chickens, no matter how hungry for insects, refused to eat these pests. The visitation of these insects formed a veritable plague.

Talk at Home.

Endeavor always to talk your best before your children. They hunger perpetually for new ideas. They learn with pleasure from the lips of parents what they dream is drudgery to learn from books, and even if they have to be deprived of many educational advantages, they will grow up intelligent if they enjoy in childhood the privilege of listening daily to the conversation of intelligent people. We sometimes see parents, who are the life of every company they enter, dull, silent, and uninteresting at home among their children. If they have not mental stores enough for both, let them first use what they have for their own households. A silent home is a dull place for young people, a place from which they will escape if they can. How much useful information, on the other hand, is often given in pleasant conversation; and what unconscious, but excellent training is lively social argument. Cultivate to the utmost the graces of conversation.

It does not seem to us that the officials of Kentucky are experimenting to see how much the people of the Commonwealth will stand, without breaking through the restraints of moral propriety, and damning the whole multitude. * We do hope that the recuperative energies of Kentucky may outlive the criminal imbecility of the present dynasty, and shutting their eyes on what the future may be in store for them, implore Divine Mercy to protect the Commonwealth until its end shall come. If the next is to be a duplicate of the present democratic Legislature we will take a republican one, and if the democracy can make no improvement in the selection of a chief Executive for the Commonwealth, we'll trust to Providence, and take Tom Buford and John D. White. —[Kentucky Telephone.]

Man is the creature of interest and ambition. His nature leads him forth into the struggle and bustle of the world. Love is but the establishment of his early life, or a song piped in the intervals of the acts. He seeks for fame, for fortune, for space in the world's thought, and dominion over his fellow-men. But the woman's whole life is a history of the affections. The heart is her world; it is there her ambition strives for empire; it is there her avarice seeks for hidden treasures. She sends forth her hidden sympathies on adventure; she embarks her whole soul in the traffic of affection; and if shipwrecked, her case is hopeless, for it is a bankruptcy of the heart. —[Washington Irving.]

In Pompeii, recently, a very beautiful fountain was found among the ruins. It is said to surpass in beauty any of the fountains hitherto dug up there. Venus is represented as rising on a shell, with Cupid in her arms. Other spirits of love are seen here and there in the waves, while in the background appears a nereid, or water nymph, near a dolphin, with her arm thrown around the neck of Cupid. In the foreground, on the shore, are two draped women looking at the merry group in the water.

IRON ORE IN NORTH CAROLINA.—Chattanooga, Tenn., is rejoicing in the discovery, in Mitchell county, N. C., of two veins of magnetite of superior quality, one eighteen feet, the other thirty-four feet wide. The veins were out while tunneling for a railway on the property of the Cranberry Iron Company. This discovery insures, it is thought, an abundant supply of steel-making ore for the Chattanooga district.

The New Haven Register gives the following excellent directions as to how to tell a good onion: "Hire your best girl to eat one raw, and then call upon her. If the onion is good your stay will be short."

On the order slate on the door of a carpenter shop in this city a passing pedestrian discovered the following: "Come to—'s Lickie store a Dore to see." —[Rochester Herald.]

A Check on Reputation.

In the important opinion of the United States Supreme Court, delivered yesterday in the case of the Southern Bank of New Orleans against the authorities of that city, Mr. Justice Field characterizes the Louisiana "premium bond act" of 1876 as "the most remarkable piece of legislation ever presented to this Court for consideration." By that act the Legislature, with unscrupulous audacity and disregard of the public faith, prohibited the levying of a tax for the payment of the New Orleans consolidated bond of 1852, which had been regularly issued under the authority of the Legislature, and of which there are now about four million dollars outstanding. This legislation, which was upheld by the highest court of Louisiana, is now very properly declared by the Supreme Court at Washington to be repudiation of the most open and flagrant kind. The fact plainly and directly impairs the obligations of the contract made by authority of the State with the holders of the bonds, and thence is set aside as unconstitutional. New Orleans will now have to pay the interest on the bonds, and ultimately the principal. This decision ought to be a wholesome warning to every Legislature which may be disposed to repudiate the just obligations of the State and thereby forcibly rob those who have trusted to its honesty and honor.

ORIENTAL INDIFFERENCE TO LIFE.

It needs a very long time and much bitter experience to teach the European how lightly an Oriental stakes his life, how quietly he pays forfeit when he loses. Be it a savage foe or a remorseless climate against which he plays, the low caste Hindoo will wager death and torment for a few copper coins. I had a theistic in that war who was inviolated from frostbite, and the probably lost both his feet, while at the time he was carrying in his knapsack the good English boots and long warm stockings I had given him. These he meant to sell, putting them on only when sure to see me; but he wanted to secure a great price. And he tramped barefoot, he slept in cotton clothes, when the thermometer fell below zero, until he sacrificed his limbs, perhaps his life. Playing the same stakes against a human enemy the Hindoo is still more reckless. —[Belgravin.]

WHY HE WOULDN'T HIRE HIMSELF.—A prominent ex-Confederate officer, now residing in Washington, started out the other evening to find a man servant. He met a pretty good looking colored man and asked him if he could recommend a good servant. The colored man regretted that he could not. "What are you engaged at?" asked the ex-Confederate. "Why can't I employ you?" "I am not doing anything just now," was the reply; "but I expect to have a seat in Congress in a few days. My name is Lynch, and I am contesting the seat of General Chalmeers." —[Washington Star.]

A lunatic at the asylum in Utica, New York, is a United States pensioner, and the largest one in the United States. Since 1866 he has been paid $3,280, while his arrearages amount to almost as much more. By the various acts of Congress he is entitled to receive the same pay as if he had lost both eyes, both arms or both legs, insanity leaving him as helpless as if he were entirely crippled. It does not do him much good as he is unaware of his wealth or destitution.

The new material known as leatherette is being brought into use in numerous mechanical and ornamental applications. It is so perfect an imitation of leather that people are utterly unaware that they are handling something other than leather itself, and its serviceable nature renders the detection still more difficult. For all uses to which it has been applied, the article is said to have proved nearly, if not quite, equal in serviceableness to natural leather.

A young woman of Idaho answered an advertisement of a firm of marriage brokers, who soon afterward sent her a bill of $26.50 for advertising, threatening, if she did not pay it, to publish the letter. She preferred to pay the bill. Young women should never deal with such agencies. They had much better remain single until their love is demanded by the spontaneous outburst of a manly heart.

Some of the stuff on sale in St. Louis as butter is shown by an official investigation to be made chiefly of lard. The oil is pressed out, and the remainder is colorless, odorless and tasteless. This substance is called "neutral," and to it is added a real butter to give it a flavor.

A physician on presenting his bill to the executor of an estate of a deceased patient, asked, "Do you wish to have my bill sworn?" "No," replied the executor, "the death of the deceased is sufficient evidence that you attended him professionally."

James James had a $500 coffin. Two preachers officiated at his funeral, and the choir sang, "Oh, What a Friend We Have in Jesus!" And yet some people wonder that Bob Ingersoll is a power in the land. —[Augusta Chronicle.]

Rejected lovers need never despair. There are four-and-twenty hours in a day, and not a moment in the twenty-four in which a woman may not change her mind. —[De Fenod.]

A Precocious Picklock.

A twelve-year-old black boy, named Coleman, was brought before the United States Commissioner at Baltimore, Md., charged with robbing the private letter boxes in the city postoffice.

The locks on these boxes are of a kind supposed to be proof against picking, and the authorities could not believe the little rascal's admission of guilt. So the marshal of police and the assistant postmaster took the little fellow to the postoffice, where he gave them an exhibition of his skill in opening burglar-proof locks. He had a little strip of wrought iron which he had hammered very thin, and, putting this in the keyhole of a box and giving it one or two slight taps with his finger, open flew the box as if by magic. Box after box he opened in the same way.

Among locksmiths of Baltimore the case has excited, it is said, the widest interest, and the discovery that these locks can be picked may lead to an entire change in them. Government experts are already studying the case. The boy Coleman was sent to jail by the commissioner to await the action of the grand jury on his case.

Now would appear to be a good time for some inventor to bring out an unpickable lock suitable for postoffice use.

GIFTED FOOLS.—There are wonderful idiots in the world besides "Blind Tom."

In an idiot asylum in London there is one man who can tell the time of day or night without watch or clock. Ask him at any time in the morning, or on waking him from a sound sleep: "Charles, what time is it?" "Thirteen minutes and a half past four," as the case might be.

Physicians and learned men had made every attempt to explain the possession of this remarkable gift. Another has built a ship, full rigged throughout, a man of war, with every rope and spar perfect. It is six or eight feet long, and he worked on it for six years.

He was a very fine-looking man; yet he is an idiot and his mother was one.

When once you have determined to fatten an animal for beef, let the process be as quick as possible. Any stint in feeding at such times will tend to make the meat tough and dry. Small-fed animals will fatten more readily than others, and young animals require richer food than older ones. In winter fattening, do not forget that much depends upon the warmth of the stables. The warmer the cattle are kept the less food will be needed.

DIGITATED STOCKINGS.—"Digitated stockings," with separate apertures for each toe, are the latest. You can put in a ball an hour fitting them on, same as a glove, and the next thing will be to have these buttons, sixteen buttons, of course, being the height of every girl's ambition. —[Boston Post.]

It is feared that the enormous manufacture of wooden toothpicks is utterly destroying the forests of America; but, then, the young man who spends all his salary for good clothes must have something to eat.

A subscriber writes as follows: "I feel at once my appetite and strength greatly improved; my expectoration less painful and less copious; my cough less troublesome; my sleep sound, refreshing and dreamless; my nervousness is all gone; my breathing less difficult; my heart's action more regular; my backache less severe; my digestion improved; my urine clear and voided without pain; my spirits more exuberant; my mind perfectly at ease; and yet I have only used half a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters."

D. KLASS.

We are glad to observe that Hon. Joe Blackburn has on the part of the minority, presented a report against the allowances agreed upon by the majority of the Committee appointed to audit the expenses of President Garfield's illness and death, which are so outrageously large and out of all proportion to the services rendered. The idea of paying Bliss $35,000, Drs. Agnew and Hamilton $15,000 each; Drs. Reyburn, Boynton and Mrs. Edson $10,000 each and Crump $3,000 is simply preposterous, and in recommending such sums the committee shows a reckless disregard for the public funds that can not be too severely censured. It amounts to nothing more than a consent to a raid upon the treasury, by a lot of adventurers, who, with but two exceptions, could not earn half the amounts they demand were they to practice a full life time. Mr. Blackburn concedes that a liberal compensation should be allowed, even in excess of what the medical attendants could have earned in their ordinary practice, notwithstanding they exhibited no extraordinary skill in the treatment of the case; but while willing to be liberal, he, nor the minority he represented could consent to such extravagant and wanton lavishment of the public funds. He also very justly protests against the recommendation to promote certain military officers connected with the case, believing that the Committee has no jurisdiction to make such recommendation. He therefore asks that the majority report be recommitted, with instructions to take proof of the value of services rendered, and in case of the surgeons to make such allowances only as would be properly chargeable to the estate of the late President. This is the only way to settle the matter. It is simply a matter of business, from which silly sentiment ought to be entirely divorced.

And now the Adjutant General is in trouble, and in a way that surprises even his most intimate friends. To be sure he presents a very utterly too appearance while bedecked and arrayed in his military trappings, but no one had ever suspected Gen. Nuckolls of being a masochist. Therefore, the news that he has attempted to play that role and even gone so far as to lay violent hands on the woman he was laying for, and make an indecent proposal to her, will of course be taken by those friends as a lie, a manufactured out of whole cloth. But such is the charge, which seems to be taken for confessed, since the General has planked down not exceeding $500 as a compromise for a $10,000 damage suit brought by the lady, who is a married woman and said to be respectable. It is also said that in addition to the $500, the General had to make a very meek and humble apology to the irate husband who, besides filthy lucre, wanted for gore; yes, red gore. Well, one by one the roses fall, one by one we lose confidence in those we had thought, like Caesar's wife, above suspicion, and in our vexation of spirit we can but exclaim with the Psalmist, "No man is virtuous, no, not one." In justice to the General let it be recorded that he denies that he made improper advances to the woman, and his word has always passed as good as his bond on all previous occasions.

SPEAKING with his usual dictatorial spirit about the rural press, the Courier-Journal in defending Henry, has this to say: "With a gullibility, which might at least have restrained its one-sided and ex parte expressions of condemnation, if it did not admit a ray of suspicion as to the sources of the charges, quite a number of Democratic newspapers fell into the trap so artfully set by the enemy to destroy a Democratic nominee." The Courier-Journal is just as much responsible for their falling into the alleged trap as the "enemy" for it failed to give the particulars of the affair, but at the same time hinted at it in the following mysterious manner: "Capt. Henry left on the mail boat this morning. He found his visit to the city neither pleasant nor profitable, which fact will be emphasized before the matter is dismissed from public attention." The C.-J. can't play the role of the great and only fair man in the matter. It's own columns will give that lie.

The Shelby Sentinel says that Col. T. P. Hill, of Stanford, is a probable candidate for Congress in this district. Lord bless you, child, you never were more mistaken in your life. Colonel Hill would not accept, if tendered him on a silver platter, the best office in the gift of the people, and he is about the only man in Kentucky that would not.

The Central Committee has at last reported on Capt. Henry's case, the substance of which we give below. Capt. Henry made a very manly statement of his case to the Committee, in which he acknowledged to having gotten drunk, but denied emphatically that he had made any indecent exposure of his person, or had insulted ladies, and neither of these charges were sustained by the witnesses examined. The Captain in his letter, expressed deep regret that he had allowed himself to get intoxicated, and says he is heartily ashamed of it and promises that such a state of affairs shall not occur again. He was willing to withdraw from the contest if the Committee thought that his remaining a candidate would jeopardize the party, or to submit to any action it took in the matter. His words have the ring of the true man about them, and we are inclined to think that the people will forgive him. This is the report:

The committee presents the manly, earnest letter of Capt. Henry, and the testimony embracing the statements of all the witnesses to the affair, and feels that it may with propriety make public the unanimous conclusion of its members that the conduct of the party, who comes in for blame by his friends and neighbors as an honor, he man and qualified for the position, did not in any way expose his person or use improper language within the hearing of a single lady.

The committee agree fully with Capt. Henry that it is very unfortunate and improper that he became intoxicated, but we believe further that he sincerely and honestly regrets his offense, which, considering it is in this as in all cases, is not of the grave character that attacks his integrity as a man or forfeits his claim to the support of those whose delegates gave him the nomination of the party. The public generally recognizes the temptation to which candidates are subjected, and while the disposition to censure Capt. Henry is a wholesome sentiment among our people, we should not go so far as to sacrifice an honorable man for the single offense which he does not deny and so solemnly pledges himself not to repeat. The capital removal business is settled after a good deal of time devoted to it, and the people of Frankfort, having been scared nearly out of their wits, can now possess their souls with peace. The question of removal came before the House on a bill which said the capital must be moved, leaving the point to which it was to be carried, blank. The Speaker ruled the bill out of order unless the blank was filled, and after much discussion, he was sustained in his decision. Then Danville was suggested as a proper place, but by a vote of 30 to 40, the lost the coveted honor. Louisville came next, and she too got the cold shoulder—40 to 45. Lexington was finally adopted, 48 to 37. The bill was then put upon its passage and strange to say, it was defeated, 35 to 52. That night Frankfort celebrated its triumph in a grand banquet. And now that the thing is to remain where it is, we hope the Legislature will not be niggardly in appropriating sufficient funds to make such improvements as are demanded to give the State-house an appearance creditable to the great State that owns it.

ONE of the most disgraceful scenes that the disgracefully inclined Legislature has presented to the world, occurred in the Senate chamber at Frankfort, Friday. A drunken Senator named Hayes, got mad with Senator George in regard to the part he took in the debate on the bill to remit $15,000 to the penitentiary lessees, and not only called him a liar, but applied the dirty executive's pet epithet, a son-of-a—, a rough and tumble fight ensued which was stopped by the members before either was hurt. This and similar occurrences at Frankfort, during the last several months are fast bringing Kentucky into disrepute and odium.

THE Richmond Register has taken the trouble to inquire into the terrible state of affairs presented by the Committee appointed to investigate the treatment of the convicts, and finds that its report is false in nearly every particular. The Committee evidently went out to make the kind of a report that it did, else it would never have given so much apparent credence to the testimony of the convicts themselves. Their assertions are either, for that matter, are on nine out of ten cases, entirely unreliable.

LEGISLATIVE.

A bill for the benefit of G. W. Penn, of Casey, was defeated in the Senate—7 to 10.

The Legislature has agreed to give the folk in Kentucky's streams the sum of $5,000.

The House passed a bill prohibiting the sale of liquors within 3 miles of Bernsfield, in Laurel.

A bill giving boarding-house keepers a lien on the baggage of their customers, passed the House.

The Senate has passed a bill to compel railroad companies to post up notices at stations of delays in passenger trains.

Col. C. E. Bowman was again appointed Commissioner of Agriculture, and gets $1,000 to purchase seeds, and the auditor $2,000 for an additional clerk.

Yesterday was the day set for adjournment, and we suppose it was effected since Gov. Blackburn has given out that he will call an extra session about July 1st.

—Maj. A. E. Richards having become a candidate for Judge of the Superior Court, has resigned his position as Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Hon. John M. Atherton, of Louisville, has been elected his successor, Maj. M. Wright of Crab Orchard, is a candidate to fill the vacancy on the Committee.

—There were three executions Friday. William Sindram was hanged in New York city for the murder of his landlady, Mrs. Margaret Crane in Jersey City, 1881; Luther B. Taylor, white, at Corning, Ark., for the murder of Riley Black; George Bohannon, at Tolla, Mo., for killing William Hill in August, 1881.

—Five train robbers disarmed an express on the Atchafalaya, Topoka and Santa Fe Railroad, in New Mexico, with intent to rob the express car, but by a mistake failing to get into the car, which contained $500,000 in silver, were forced to let the train pass and pursued the express car. The freeman was killed and the engineer and express manager badly injured.

—The Senatorial Committee on Education has reported a bill providing for the appropriation of $200,000, $150,000 the first year, $140,000 the second year, $130,000 the third year, and thereafter a sum diminished $10,000 yearly from the sum appropriated, until ten annual appropriations have been made, when all appropriations under this act shall cease. A general sum shall be expended to secure the benefits of common school education to all the children living in the United States.

A New Letter from Greensburg.

GREENSBURG, KY., April 24, '82

You do not often receive a letter from this peculiar portion of the vineyard, but I hope you will give this a place, nevertheless. The truth is I have not seen a copy of the INTERIOR JOURNAL since your issue of the 1st and consequently begin to feel lonely. Have been circulating for some days in this county so grievously blessed with taxes levied for the construction of impossible railroads, and while I find a people intelligent and hospitable, their social nature is hindered to a great extent paralyzed by the incubus of this hopeless impost. It is strange that no remedy can be discovered for this dire disease which is slowly, but steadily exhausting the vitality and crippling the energies of what was once a healthy and vigorous people. Many of its citizens in former years took up their stakes and removed to Louisville and their names now stand prominent in the lists of the business and professional men of the city. Others just as estimable have stood by the old ship and are simply waiting for the time when she and they shall be engulfed together. There is something sad in the grim resolution with which these brave old hearts linger amid the faded glories of their once delightful homes, and try to live with the memories of days that are gone forever. A very few of these stalwart monuments of the former Greensburg society now remain, and of these few, the venerable Dr. King is the last. A. Allen breathed his last this morning. I saw him late Thursday afternoon. He was counting the hours with feverish anxiety, awaiting the arrival of the train he which he was expecting an absent daughter, Mrs. Sam. T. Wilson, of Louisville. She and her husband came, and I learn that his wretched energies at once gave way.

The crops of the county, generally, were cut short by the drought of last year, but the unusually mild winter has enabled the people to pull through. There seems to be to-day a disposition to plant more corn and less tobacco. Preparations for the later crop, however, are progressing, and while the dry is retarding the plant, there is confidence in an abundant supply.

An affray occurred about 5 miles from this place on the 21st inst, between M. Grant and Strang. The latter owns a new mill at that place the former was getting lumber sawed. A dispute arose which culminated in Strang striking Grant on the head with a piece of lumber with such force as to literally crush his skull. He died on the morning of the 23d. Strang, who is said to have formerly resided at Nashville, will probably have his examining trial to-day.

Geo. B. Hackley, of Harrodsburg, is here in charge of the telegraph office, and in conjunction with Gen. Hobson, running the machinery of the county prominently. George is well situated, well fed, well educated, has made a good impression, and is just as happy as the largest sized sunflower ever raised by D. Wilde.

The funeral services in honor of Colonel Wm. Barrett Allen, were held in the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. He was one of the oldest citizens of Greensburg—having been born here May 19th, 1803, and hence had nearly attained the age of 79 years. His history is infinitely blended with that of the county. His name is a standard monument in the annals of Kentucky Masonry—he having held the relation of P. M. about 50 years. During the last forty years he has not, I believe, been absent from a single meeting. Col. Allen was three times married. First to Miss Jane Pope Helm, of Elizabethtown, Feb. 20th, 1823; second, to Miss Huldah Wilcox, of Greensburg, Nov. 1, 1839; third, to Miss Millie N. Baker, of Columbia (who survives him), June 19, 1850.

The railroad connecting this place with Lebanon, which is merely a section of the line which was projected from Louisville to the Southern world at large, and which burdened so many counties with a ruinous tax, has proved of little or no benefit to the town; but after the almost utter failure of last year's crops it has proved the starvation of a large portion of the rural population of the county by enabling them to utilize for ready cash, their timber, in this point, in consequence of which the necessities of life are made abundant. Even this resource, however, is greatly crippled by the present system of county roads.

Last Monday, a Mr. Young, committed suicide near this place. He had a contract for building the new Presbyterian Church at Campbellsville. When his work (which had used his means to a large amount) was nearly completed, it was found that the walls were defective, and the work was condemned. This misfortune affected his mind to such an extent as to excite the fears of his wife who watched him with anxious care; but he succeeded in securing a razor with which he repaired to the bath and laying himself on the floor, cut his throat.

ST. VERNON DEPARTMENT.

—Born to the wife of C. Crook, of Pine Hill, a daughter; to the wife of J. C. P. Myers, a daughter.

—Trial is County Court. No cases of importance on the docket. There are no cases to be tried. A large crowd in town. We noticed several candidates mixing very freely with the boys.

—Your types made us say Mr. Whitehead was having his house whitewashed when it should have been washed. We make this correction because Mr. Whitehead is a single man, and it might injure his future prospects.

—Marriage licenses issued by our county clerk since last report: Alexander Decker to Lucie Rhoads; Charles Chase to Arminia Herd; Marion Ross to Margaret J. Herd; Charles Poff to Catharine Hanks; Wm. H. Colyer to Mary Painter.

—Mrs. Georgia Jones and family, of Louisville, are residing at J. J. Williams' for a few days. Col. Burdett has not returned home yet. The attractions at Frankfort are too strong for him to leave. Jas. F. Wallin, of Ginn Sulphur, is in town. Col. Hatt of Crab Orchard, is coming on our streets to-day. Judge Breckinridge, of Springfield, Washington county, was in town Saturday. Rockcastle is solid for him for Judge of the second district.

—We were again disturbed at Buckeye church yesterday, which broke up the meeting for that day. As Elder Jos. Hatt was opening the services, two very fast young men who had been drinking some of the mean whisky which is being sold in our country, arrived at the church and began to be very boisterous. Their friends tried to persuade them to go home, and finally got them started off, when one of the young men pulled his pistol and fired all the shot out of it as he galloped his horse down the road towards his home. The names of these nice young fellows are Buck Marei and Lycurgus Fish. The former is the one who did the shooting at Buckeye. In the evening at Durbin's Mill Church the same young men were there, still drunk. They continued their disturbances by hallooing and riding by the door, and cutting up generally. Young Fish pulled his pistol and fired five shots as they were riding about. Those boys, by their reckless conduct, frightened the good people very much, "bulldozed the whole crowd as it were." The good people of that neighborhood should see that these nice young men suffer the penalty of their law. While we sympathize with the parents of these boys, we have no sympathy for such conduct as this. Their parents should see that they are punished. The good name of the county depends upon it. We glory in the rank of the reporter. He is not afraid to tell names as well as tales.—(E.)

CHAS. ORTHARD SPRINGS AGAIN.—Yesterday afternoon, after having failed to secure a perfect deed to this property, which was sold to them on the 13th of this month, notwithstanding a tender of the whole amount bid was made, and after ineffectual efforts at either a compromise or an arbitration, the syndicate of Lincoln county gentlemen agreed to allow the trustee to take the property back and declare the sale off. The Trustee was willing to do all in his power to secure the deed, but Col. Shelby and wife, who according to law, must unite in that instrument to make it good, refused to heat to any proposition, declaring that the price was too low. There was no disposition on the part of the syndicate to go to law or to prejudice the Shelby's rights in any way, hence the relinquishment of their own rights in the matter.

Present lines of gingham and lawn at E. P. Owsley's.

The Lincoln Mills will do custom grinding on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of each week, until further notice.
JIMMY BROWN has gone to farming, at least he is plowing up the Court Square, with a view, we suppose, to planting it in corn.

TO WOOL GROWERS.—We want to buy 100,000 pounds of wool. It will be to your interest to see us before disposing of your wool. McAlister & Bright, Ag'ts. Stanford Woolen Mills.

THE watch stolen from Eld. A. C. Newland by tramps, was left by a negro man at Penny & McAlister's a day or two ago, where it was readily recognized. The negro says he bought it from a white man whom he did not know, paying $3 for it.

MORTON'S BIG FOUR MINSTRELS, embracing six of the jolliest kind of End man and 10 superior comedians, will appear at Stanford Opera House, Thursday night, 27th. They are highly endorsed by the press of New York, San Francisco, St. Louis, Cincinnati and other large cities. Admission, 50 cents. Reserved seats, 75c. at McRoberts & Stagg's.

We announce in today's issue the candidacy of Mr. J. A. E. Richards, of Louisville, Ky., for the Superior Court Judgeship in this district. Major Richards stands exceptionally high in Louisville, not only as a lawyer of ability and learning, but as a gentleman and man of honor. He would reflect credit upon any position in the gift of the people. There are as many worthy gentlemen aspiring for the position that the Democratic party appears to be embarrassed with riches, yet it is a comforting reflection that out of the whole number we can hardly make a mistake in choosing.

CUTTING.—We learn that John Owsley, a rather forward youth of Lancaster, cut Wm. W. White in the left shoulder Friday night after their return from the Centennial here, inflicting a not very dangerous wound. It seems that Owsley drew a pistol on White, which, with a couple of others, was taken from him, and then the two were enclosed in a ring to fight it out. White went for him but Owsley drew his knife, with the above result. It is also said that Owsley exhibited his pistol here on one or two occasions the same night, all of which will be investigated by the next grand jury.

ASSAULTED.—Samuel F. Bibb, son of Col. R. C. Bibb, of this county, was shot and killed by Mat Foley, at Williamsburg, a few nights since, who laid in ambush for him. It will be remembered that the two men had a difficulty last Summer, when Bibb shot Foley, after being shot at by him. They had since, however, made friends, and Bibb was not suspicious of a renewal of the trouble. It is said that Foley borrowed a gun from a negro and loaded it with 65 buckshot, every one of which took effect in Bibb's body, tearing it apart. Bibb was arrested, and is now in jail. Bibb was hurried near the scene, the doctors deciding that his body could not be brought here. He lived a half hour after being shot and sent for a lawyer to arrange his business, but died before his arrival. He leaves a wife and two children.

QUEEN ESTHER.—The Lancaster Musical Society coerced themselves all over with glory, and to say that our people were pleased and faintly expresses their feelings. They were delighted and surprised, notwithstanding the many things that had been heard in their praise, at the excellence of their performance, and the elegance with which it was put upon the stage. We dislike to particularize when each did his part so well, but we can not refrain from noticing the superior singing and acting of the King, Prof. J. W. Crum, the beauty, grace and vocal abilities of the Queen, Miss Sallie Curry; Mrs. W. A. Burnside's fine soprano, Miss Lelia Price's excellent voice and charming acting, and the efforts of Miss Jos. P. Sandifer, L. B. Dickinson, J. B. Johnson, J. C. Henshill, and others. They all did remarkably well from the King down to the humblest chorus singer. Several of the tableaux were very grand and given with an effect that was hard to improve on. From beginning to end the entertainment was a success, and we heartily congratulate our neighbors on achieving so much well deserved praise.

NOTES.—The Instrumental music furnished by Mrs. W. G. Dunlap and Miss Marion Wolford was highly complimented.—Miss Sara Huffman's sweet mezzo soprano voice took the boys by storm, and an effort was made to have her sing a special selection, but under the circumstances she very wisely declined.—The little boys got off on the wrong note, creating some merriment and much discord, but then boys will be boys.—The beautiful scarf dances of Misses Mamie Olds, Julia Gill, Kate Mason and Lelia Markshury was very skillfully done and elicited much applause.—Billy Bogie and Will Wherritt appeared well in tight, but Sam Burnside seemed to be somewhat lost in his. The fact is Sam has been studying hard and is not so fat as he used to be.—The only thing that marred the effect at all was the miserable shuffling of the feet, for which assistant stage manager Jim Dillon is responsible. Old Crew must have been excited.—Miss Stella Markshury is a winning little beauty; in fact one hardly seen in a life time a handsomer set of girls than the score or more that appeared before the foot-lights on Friday night.—Over 200 reserved seats were sold.—Prof. Crum, in behalf of the Society, asks us to return his heartfelt thanks to the people of Stanford for their patronage and respectful attention.—Chawing gum was at a premium, but we only noticed one young lady who forgot to unlatch before attempting to sing. She had a tough time wrestling with that and the song at the same time, but let that pass.—Mr. J. P. Sandifer writes: Our trip to Stanford was a pleasant one indeed. We were complimented by a large audience of elegant people, and were treated with marked respect throughout the entire entertainment, which, I assure you, was duly appreciated by the entire Society.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP.
John M. Hall sold to John G. Lyon, a yoke of heavy oxen for $125.
Harrodsburg Springs, belonging to the Government and now used as a soldiers' home, is to be sold at auction.
Commissioner Bowman, in his monthly report, says the recent freeze has not materially hurt grain and fruit crops.
The proprietors of Lincoln Mills want to buy 500 or 600 barrels of corn, for which they will pay the highest market price.
McAlister & Salter, proprietors of Lincoln Mills, have just bought of Sam Harris, 150 barrels of corn at $1.50 delivered.
Sheep-shearing has commenced, and Buge & Jacoby sold 1,200 fleeces to Lexington parties at 25c per lb. James Ingles also sold a large lot, to same parties, at 25c.
John M. Hall bought of Evan Carson and G. W. Spangler, of Crab Orchard, a large lot of extra lambs for 20th of June delivery, at 5 cents. They are to weigh 60 pounds or upwards.
S. L. Woodridge and P. C. Kidd sold last week to George Beckner, of Baltimore, 320 head of fat cattle at 61c per pound. The total amount of the sale will approximate $35,000.—(Midway Clipper.)
Eldred and James Bean sold their fat cattle to W. F. Hodgkin for Fort, Sadler & Co., for 6 cents, to be delivered the last of September. They have 60 head and their average was 1250 when turned out.—(Clark Democrat.)

GARRARD COUNTY.
Lancaster.
The wool buyers are making a lively canvass of this county, prices ranging as high as 25 cents.
Wm. Spencer, one of the negroes in Jail for rape, was released on a $35 bond last week.
The Lancaster Musical Society closed its career in Lancaster, Friday night, and is to be congratulated that in six renditions it made but one approach to failure.
Eb. Cowley, whose history is closely associated with the closing chapters of that of the late P. D. Kennedy, is serving a sentence of 30 days in jail for a breach of the peace committed several years ago.
About 100 head of stock on the market to-day, and bidding was pretty lively.
Col. I. M. Dunn sold 25 head of yearlings at $21.50; heifers at $14.50; 8 steers at $18.25. Milk cows from $20 to $35. Horses, $40 to $100.
It is an indisputable fact that of the towns eluded by the late M. S. Stanford, entitled to the cake for his hotel accommodations, etc.
At the same time we are not inessential to the kind treatment received at other places. If any one of these towns wish to test our sincerity of good feeling, let them get up a circuit and send it over, and if Lancaster don't stand by it, I stand ready to apologize.

Robert Lockhart, a white man, who has been carrying the mail between this place and Harrodsburg, and a couple of negro women, were lodged in jail here Saturday for robbing the money drawer of J. W. Brown's store at Harrodsburg, last week. It seems the negroes made the first entrance, and a night or two afterwards while the store was being watched, Lockhart entered and was arrested with his hand in the money drawer.

Morris Davis, one of our leading merchants is at his post again after a visit to his parents in Cincinnati. Luther H. Dickerson, of Mt. Sterling, a musician of note and a pleasant gentleman, kindly supplied the place of Mr. Yanis, as Nordseal in two entertainments last week. Mr. Yanis was compelled to leave just two days before an engagement, and as no other of the Club was up in the part, Mr. Dickerson assumed and rendered it acceptably, although he had not tried it for two years. Prof. J. W. Crum has left us for the purpose of organizing a Musical Society at Harrodsburg. Those of us who have been intimately associated with him for the past two months commend him as an agreeable gentleman, and one well acquainted with his business in all details. He "will doubtless come again" before long to work up some other popular Opera.

A "Union Meeting" was held in the Court-house to-day, the object of which was to have only one set of candidates and have no contests for the different county offices. A committee of ten from each party was selected for the purpose of dividing the offices of the county. Speeches were made in favor of the movement by Boston Dillon and ———. Persons, both candidates for County Clerkship, and J. Wesley West, and Geo. Denny, Jr., opposing it. At the close of Denny's speech the meeting adjourned in much confusion, and consequently nothing was done. Denny and his republican friends severely for going into the thing. A good many democrats are very much opposed to a compromise, and say that whatever may be done in that direction will have no effect in regard to the running of a full ticket in August. The democrats are of course opposed to a compromise as it would cut them out entirely.

Morton's Big 4 Minstrels.
Below are some of the press comments of the above company to appear here next Thursday night:
It is the best minstrel band that has visited this city for years, and is complete throughout—there is not a weak point in the show. The music is first-class, the quartette a wonderfully fine one, and a set of comedians that are all of the clearest and finest reputation.—(Cincinnati Enquirer.)
The songs are new and well sung, and the dancing is good. The "Big Four Act" is immense, of course, and closes the entertainment with a roar of fun.—(Kansas City Times.)
